Tianrang OCR

Identification of international settlement documents

Automatic review of cross-border trade settlement

In the process of automatic review of cross-border trade settlement, Tiantu automatic review scheme can be used to complete the automatic identification of 3000 types of templates and seamless entry into the system.

Use effect

* Self generated tens of millions of training data
* The accuracy rate of the large classification model of case package is 95%+
* Key field identification and structured output realize more than 3000 types of templates, with an accuracy of 90%+
* Reduce the input workload of more than 90% auditors

Mass format list identification

Including the recognition of machine printed / handwritten bills such as various accounts receivable, warehouse receipts and bill of materials, so as to realize the electronization of bill recognition and entry and improve the efficiency of information processing

About Tianrang

Founded in June 2016, Tianrang intelligence takes the world's leading AI technology with independent intellectual property rights as the core to help customers build a data-based operation operating system with data platform and AI capability platform as the main body, man-machine collaboration and iterative learning, precipitate data assets, mine data values, improve operation efficiency, and effectively deal with optimization and decision-making problems in complex scenes. It has successfully landed in many fields such as commercial operation, financial services and urban governance, and provided excellent AI products and services for enterprises, financial institutions and government institutions.

Contact number 18621368470

mailbox
ocr-service@tianrang-inc.com

天壤
TIANRANG