

MVP – The Minimum Viable Product

Focusing on the vital

- Imagine the MVP as the smallest possible solution to replace the current one. Only including the most significant requirements to target your vital objectives
- Our working method is based on defining the objective design and identifying the implementation that gives the most effect within existing framework – such as cost, time, special conditions or culture
- As a supplier we can give inspiration to the possibilities, but only together with our joined competence, the design will reach your desired business values
- During the design work, it is not unusual for completely new priorities to be identified. Therefore, the format is created so that if the parties do not agree on content, time and estimates for the identified scope, the partners can end the collaboration after the initial phase
