Designed for proprietary products.

Projects on Alinor are encrypted between you and your client, meaning no one on this planet has access. You also control exactly who sees what inside of your company. Plus, support for deal flow tools like T&C, NDAs, IP licensing and more are built right in.

- Custom legal packages. Collect all documents needed for a project, and send them in one package to your client. Annotation support for client side and built in authorizations, so clients can add the proper person to sign off.

- Internal controls. You have full control of who sees what internally. Products can exist on Alinor that the majority of your own users don't know about. The same applies to files, projects, and everything else.

- Encryptions and SSO for your clients. Alinor uses industry standard Single-Sign-On functionality to generate a custom sign in code for the specific email addresses you set. No one but that person can ever gain access to your project.
