Different Licenses for Different Users

Full users - Users whose work requires use of all of the features the software has to offer. Think sales people, customer service reps, accountants, controllers and supply chain managers.

Additional users - Most users often fall into this category. These users only use parts of the system to view data, complete light tasks, enter time and expense or update records. They may also have heavy use of the system but not need full access or capabilities.

Full User - Essentials

For businesses that need the full breadth of core functionality and do not require service management or manufacturing

Full User - Premium

For advanced functions in Service and Manufacturing.
