CHALLENGES IN LATIN AMERICA

Integration with electronic invoicing is one of the challenges that customers must face when implementing an ERP in most Latin American countries.

Clients must commonly choose an intermediate provider who oversees validating and informing the government agency of the issuance of the electronic invoice.

Each supplier manages its own integration method and each interface results in an almost custom development for each client in each country.

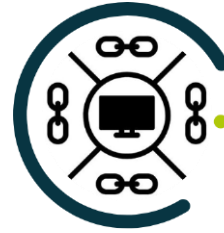

In this situation, the necessary developments and testing at each stage of implementation due to additional consumption of time, resources, and budget to the project.
