BizOne

Why extract your D365 Finance data to the a lakehouse?

By replicating your D365 data into a Databricks lakehouse, you gain complete ownership and control over your financial information. This centralized repository breaks down data silos, enabling you to seamlessly integrate data from other sources, such as sales, marketing, and operations. This unified and open data platform empowers you to uncover deeper insights, optimize business processes, and make data-driven decisions with greater confidence.

CHALLENGES

Siloed data restricts access, hindering effective decision-making and business agility and also makes it difficult to integrate D365 data with other data sources for a comprehensive view of the business.

SOLUTION

Our D365 Finance lakehouse accelerator allows you to replicate D365 data into a Databricks lakehouse to create a centralized, open and accessible data repository.

OUTCOME

Enhances your ability to uncover hidden patterns and trends through advanced analytics. Accelerated time-to-insights with pre-built reports. Increased agility and responsiveness to changing business conditions.
