Reduced Risk

Our approach, refined over decades of experience in building SharePoint intranets, helps to mitigate risk to project timelines and ensures widespread user adoption.

Through in-depth stakeholder interviews, surveys, and brainstorming guides, we identify the organizational pain points around finding, disseminating, and assimilating information.

We approach your Intranet as a collaborative, iterative experience—gathering insight as we build the underlying foundation and design an Intranet that enforces and embraces your culture. User & Stakeholder Surveys

Our ready-to-send surveys help us gather the right feedback from your users and stakeholders to ensure the Intranet we build meets the real-world needs of your users.

Brainstorming Guide

Our Intranet Content Brainstorming Guide helps to identify whether items and features commonly seen through our intranet experience are a good fit for your organization.

Collaborative Training

Our collaborative approach to design and content development means your content owners receive training throughout the project, eliminating formal training.
