

Protect Your Business with Unified Hybrid Cloud Resilience

The complexity of hybrid cloud environments can leave your business exposed. Traditional Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery (BCDR) plans fail to secure against interdependent risks across your technology, people, and processes. This vulnerability arises from fragmented tools and siloed strategies.

C60 Digital and Veeam offer a unified BCDR solution engineered for true recovery and resilience. By aligning your protection with your interconnected architecture, we eliminate complexity and deliver the confidence that your business is always secure. This allows your team to focus on core growth, not on managing disparate systems.

What this means for you:

Continuous Business Operations

We don't just recover systems—we protect your entire workflow. By aligning your BCDR with your interconnected architecture, we eliminate critical gaps and ensure your business processes remain uninterrupted, no matter where they reside.

True Data Mobility

Your data is your business's lifeblood. Our solution ensures it's never locked into one platform, giving you the freedom to restore anything—from a single file to a complete system—to any location, whenever you need it.

Operational Simplicity and Control

Stop wasting time juggling separate consoles and policies. Our single, unified platform centralizes management and automates governance, transforming a complex challenge into a simple, consistent operational process.

Fortified Identity and Guaranteed Access

Your identity system is the master key to your entire digital world. We protect this critical hybrid control plane, ensuring an outage doesn't lock you out of your data and applications and safeguarding both your on-premise and cloud identities.

Your Path to Unshakeable Resilience

BCDR Clear Path Forward

We deliver an actionable BCDR roadmap tailored to your business. After reviewing your environment and defining RTO/RPO targets, we produce a solution design that leverages the Veeam platform, followed by a detailed implementation plan and timeline for execution. This provides the unified management and data mobility essential for true hybrid resilience.

Solution Implementation

Our certified Azure engineers bring the roadmap to life. We execute the plan, deploying and configuring the BCDR solution seamlessly and securely. We ensure that the technical implementation precisely meets the business objectives defined in the roadmap, striking the right balance between value and security.

Managed BCDR

We provide 24/7/365 managed services to ensure your BCDR solution is always ready. Our team handles the ongoing operations, proactive monitoring, and regular recovery testing of your plan, giving you complete confidence in your business continuity and freeing your team to focus on driving your business forward.
