People and their Work

Who are the people who animate your company? We identify the clusters of representative personas and map what are their Habits, Attitudes and Anchors.

We acquire information about how they work, what tools they use and how in their daily work.

Organization, Offices, and Departments

We acquire comprehensive knowledge of offices, their responsibilities and their structure.

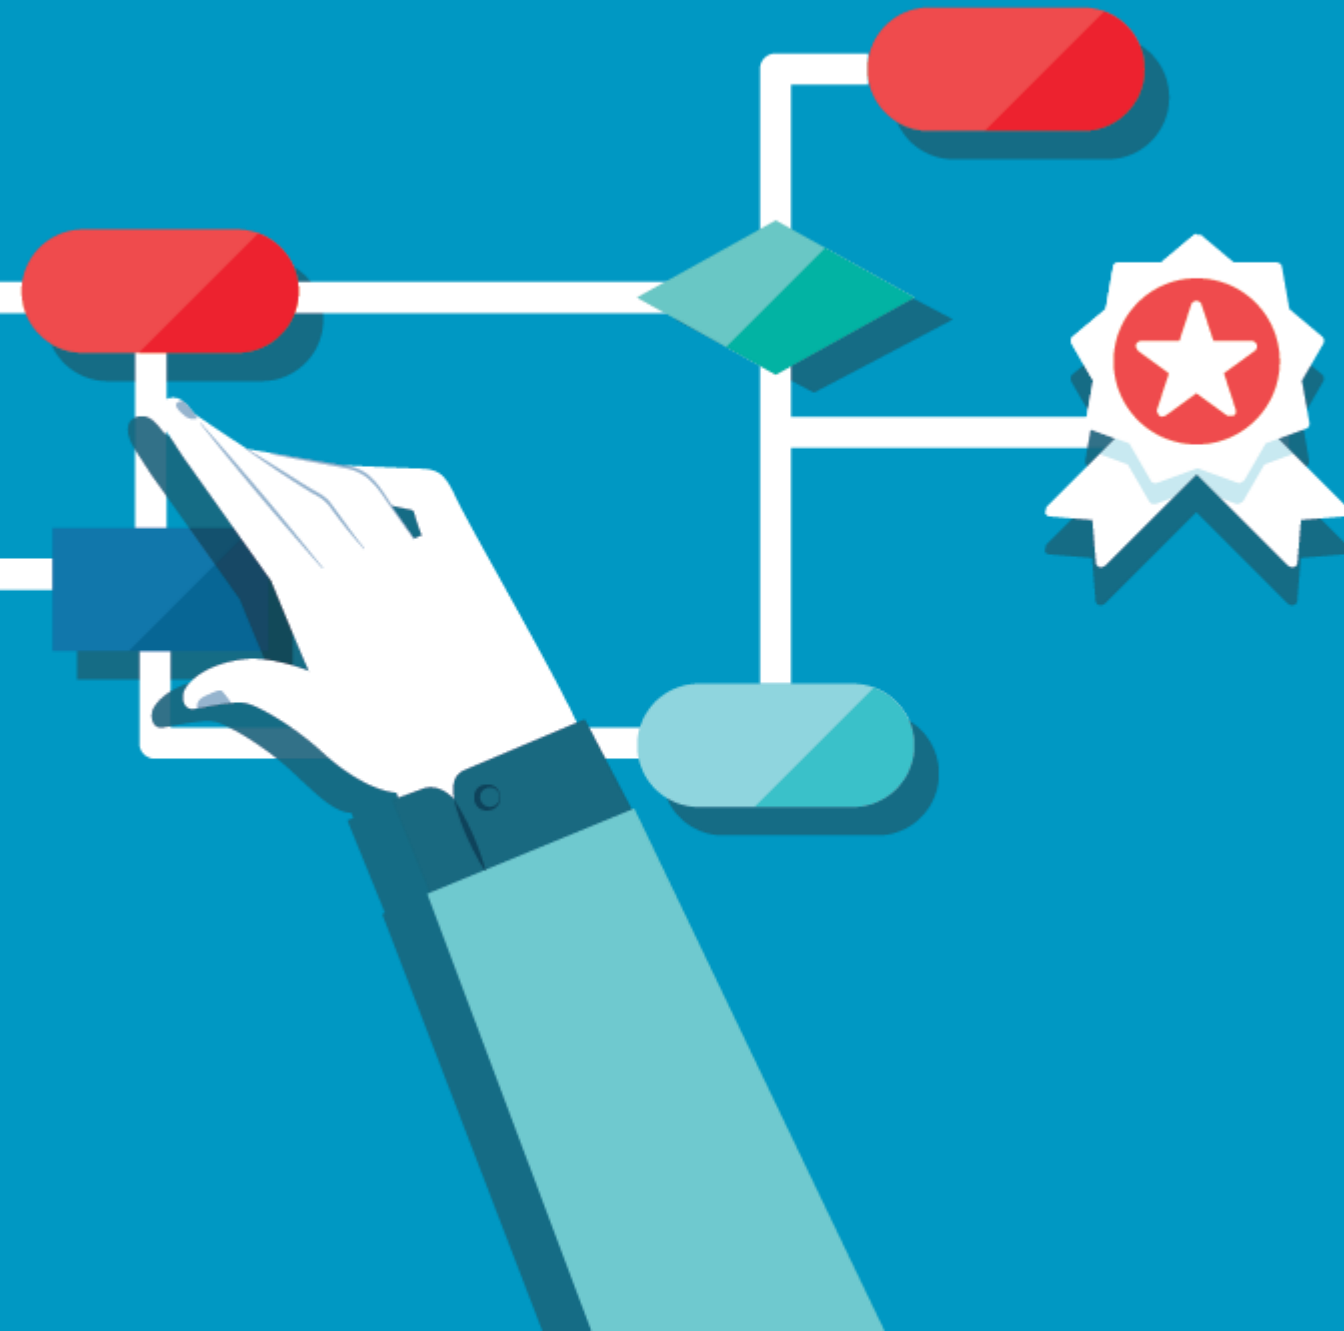

We understand the intricate connections within the organization that extend beyond hierarchical arrangements.

We understand the intricate connections within the organization that extend beyond hierarchical arrangements.

Optimized Workflows and Efficient Procedures

We thoroughly evaluate and assess your processes and procedures. Identifying and meticulously mapping out the existing workflows, we gain valuable insights into their life cycle.

Moreover, we offer the opportunity to collaboratively create new processes that may be lacking but have emerged as necessary during our prior research phase. Together, we can build streamlined and effective procedures tailored to your specific requirements.

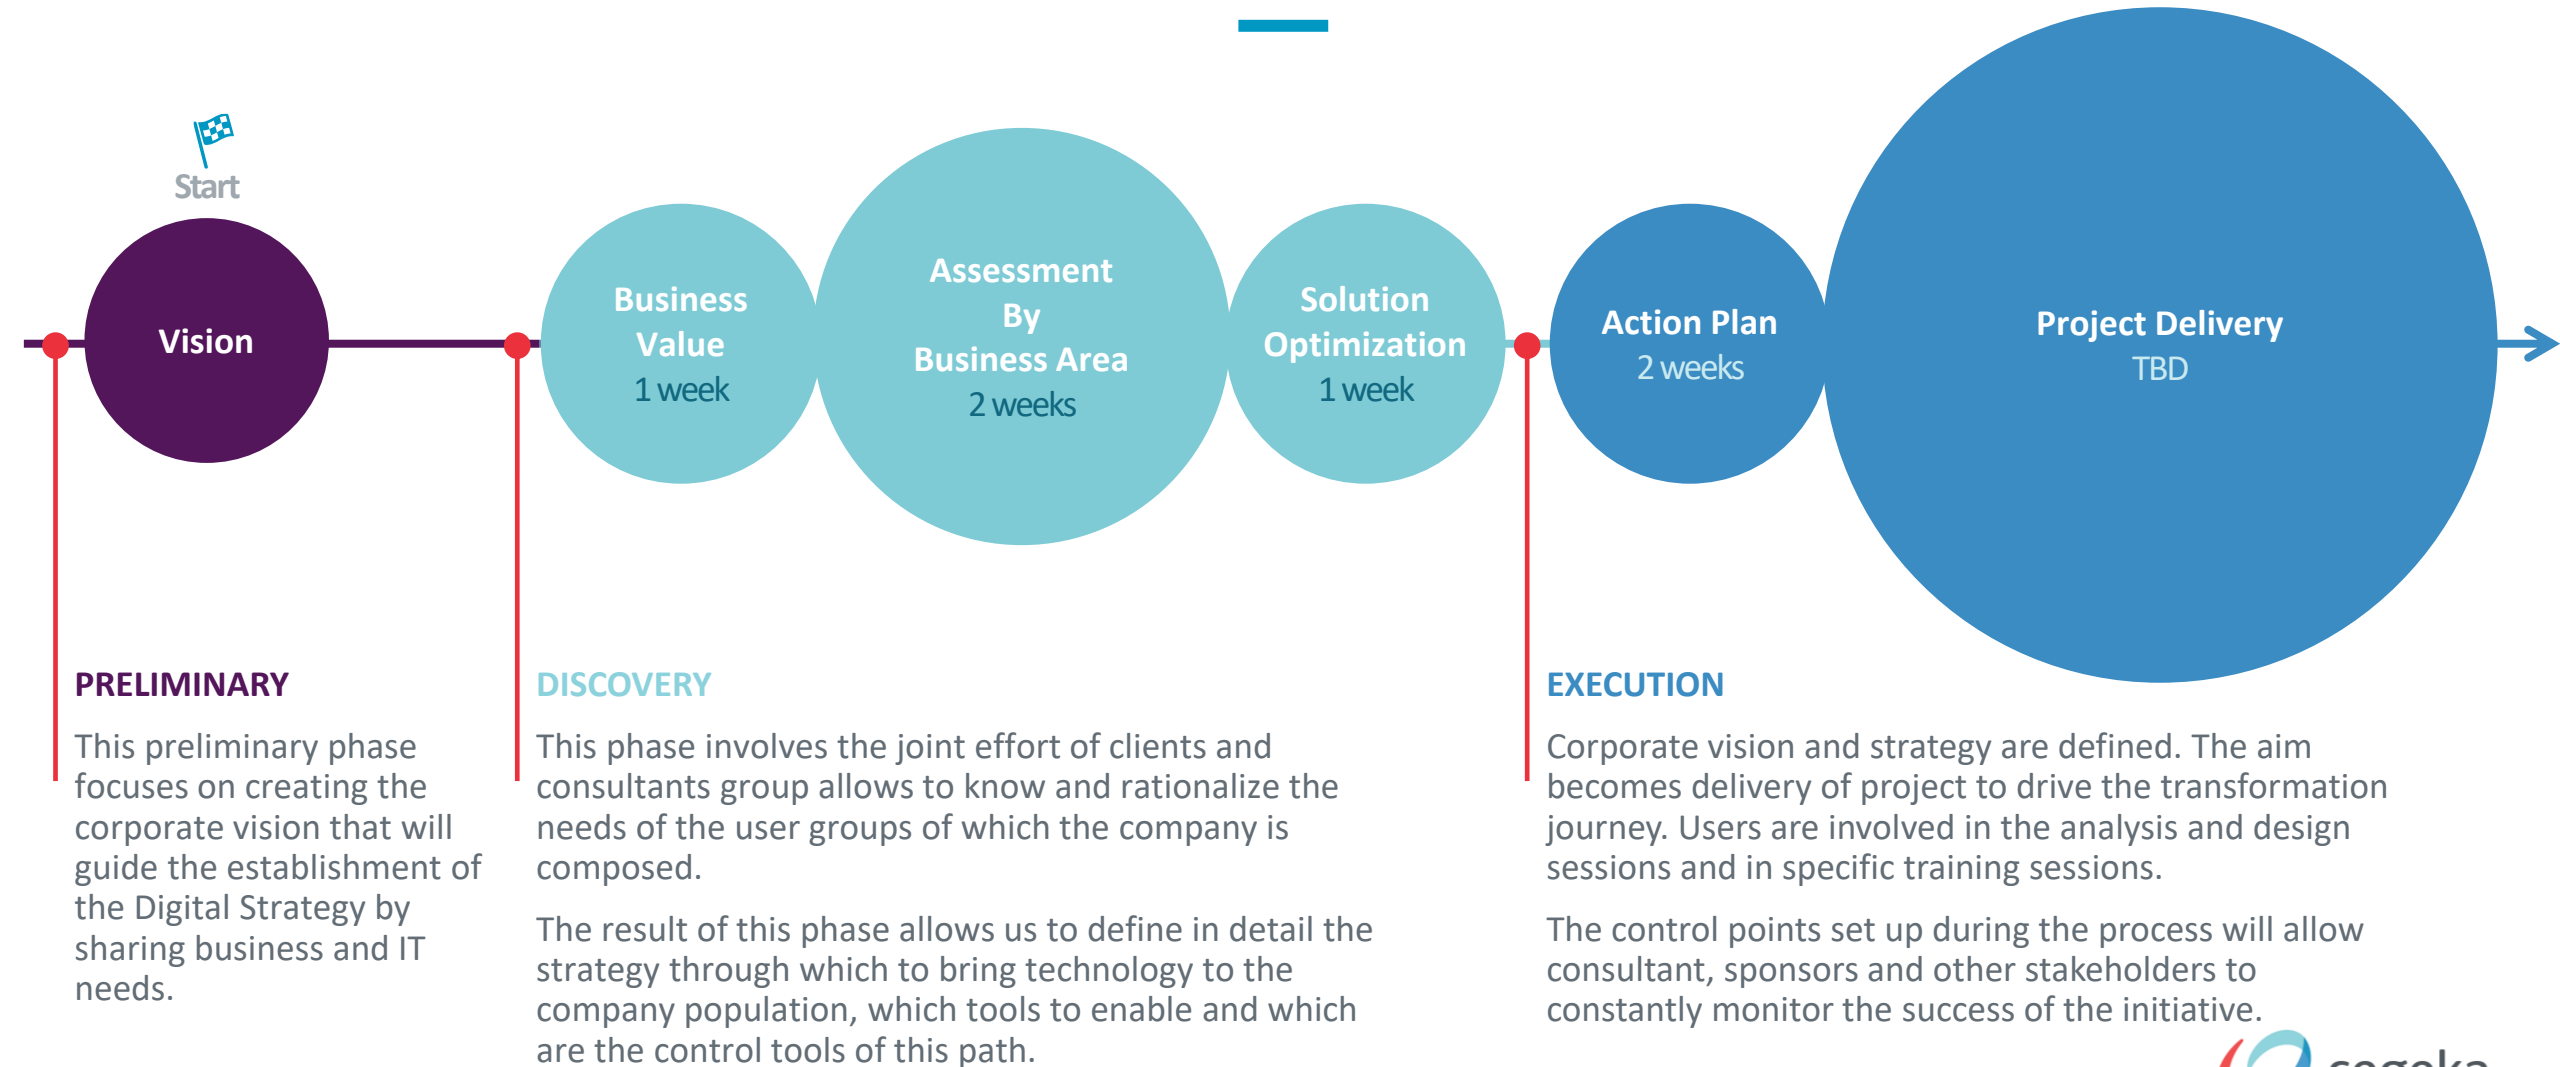

In-Depth Analysis of Adopted Tools

In conjunction with the business area analysis phase, we will conduct a comprehensive technical study of your current solution.

Through the examination of the existing system, we can identify additional features and areas of improvement within your current processes. This verification process allows us to pinpoint specific enhancements and optimizations that can be implemented to further elevate your operations.
