Application Readiness Services

Briefing

Proof of Concept of Application Readiness Services for proactive packaging applications for Microsoft 365 with good documentation and insight into your application readiness for Microsoft 365.

Are you curious about your Application Readiness for Microsoft 365? How do you keep your applications running with the continuous update cycle on Microsoft 365 and from various vendors? Do you have many application updates and do your internal application requests take too long? Are you worried about getting your applications ready and working on Microsoft 365? Then you need an efficient application packaging process.

In this Proof of Concept (PoC) we will implement our Application Readiness service (ARS) and prepare five applications for automated deployment to your Microsoft 365 workplace environment. With the PoC you experience the ARS process and receive five application configurations you can use for your Microsoft 365 workplace environment.

After the PoC you are ready to make full use of ARS, get started with Microsoft 365 and accelerate the adoption of Windows 10. We guide your organization in the transition to an efficient process to make your desktop applications ready for deployment through the Microsoft Store for Business. This ensures workplaces that are always equipped with the latest versions of applications and accelerate your Windows 10 adoption with satisfied users. With ARS you gain insight into your application readiness for Microsoft 365, and you do not need to invest in knowledge, skills and tooling.
