

Microsoft Purview Retention check-up and deployment

What is Microsoft Purview?

Microsoft Purview provides data policy and risk management solutions for your organization. An important part of Microsoft Purview is Retention.

Why is Retention important?

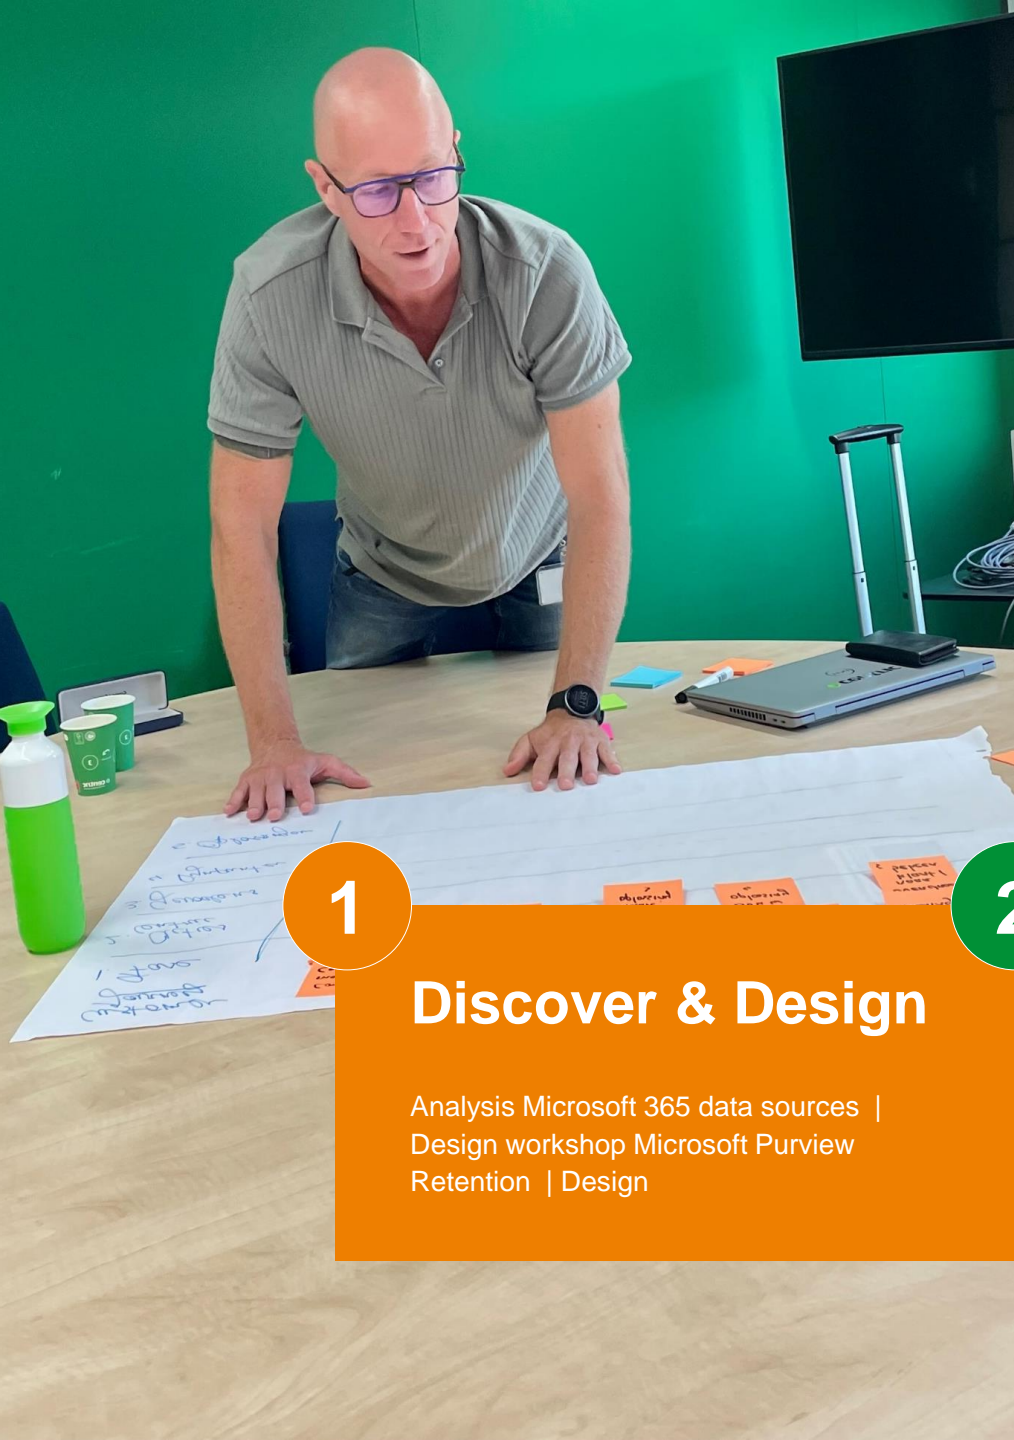

The amount of data in your organization is increasing rapidly. Data no longer resides in one place but is spread across the environment. To comply with laws and regulations, data must be retained. This requires a retention policy or label that:

- Can automatically delete your data based on the laws and regulations that the organization must comply with;
- That ensures that users do not accidentally delete relevant organizational data;
- Create a label for data that need exceptions to your retention policies;
- Enforce actions after a specific retention period. Decide whether data should be deleted or relabeled.

The 4-day Microsoft Retention check-up and deployment approach

1

Discover & Design

Insight into your data landscape and the possibilities based on an E3 or E5 license. Based on an interview, we will make a proposal for the implementation of retention.

2

Configure

Your Microsoft 365 environment can make use of retention. Information from the previous phase is translated into a technical implementation. From the point of view of knowledge sharing, this is done together with administrators of the internal organization.

3

Testing & Evaluation

After the implementation, several stakeholders from the business are involved in testing this new functionality. After this phase, the results will be shared and discussed with you. After this, retention can be rolled out organization-wide. Focus: Adoption
