Service overview

Your data and AI transformation journey can only succeed if you know where you're starting from.

The Data and AI Readiness Assessment provides a concise, MOT-style evaluation of your business data, analytics, and AI maturity to assess performance across nine core domains and reveal strengths, risks, and improvement priorities. You receive clear maturity scoring, practical recommendations, and a strategic roadmap to strengthen governance, unlock insights, and accelerate AI readiness.

Who is this service for?

Businesses of all sizes seeking clarity on their current data capabilities, their ability to successfully adopt AI, and where their improvement efforts should be focused in the short, mid, and long term.

Addressing your challenges

Disconnected data processes that limit effective decision making

Unclear governance impacting compliance risks and operational confidence

Limited AI readiness delaying innovation and business transformation

Expertise in action

Our team of Modernisation experts analyse nine core domains to produce maturity scores, identify key findings, and build an actionable roadmap.

What we deliver

- An in-depth assessment that covers Strategy and Leadership, Governance, Quality, Architecture, BI/Analytics, AI Readiness, People and Skills, Operationalisation, and ROI
- Discovery workshops with stakeholders from across the business, followed by executive playback
- Interactive audit report with domain-level assessments graded at Pass, Advisory, or Warning
- Prioritised recommendations and a strategic roadmap for Data and AI modernisation

Outcomes that matter

Gain a clear understanding of data maturity and confidently plan investments that accelerate the adoption of impactful data, AI, and analytics capabilities.
