

Deliver company-level messages through Microsoft Teams

The "one-pitch-to-everyone" feature you've been looking for

Do these problems sound familiar?

Administrator problems:

Corporate division needs to urgently notify all employees.
How can I make sure every employee gets the message?

- Company-level emails: Unopened, unread, message not communicated
- Intranet posting: Post not visited, message not communicated
- Trickle-down chat: Burden on busy managers
- Microsoft Teams: Appropriate features lacking in Microsoft Teams

Small tasks consume too much of my time when I show up at the office.

Intranet? I never visit that site.

People read emails less due to remote work.

I missed the due date for an in-house training session...

I do my work with a smartphone.

A direct reminder is sent via chat following each email for formal in-house requests.

Chat is quicker for conducting business!

Email? I've given up reading everything in my inbox.

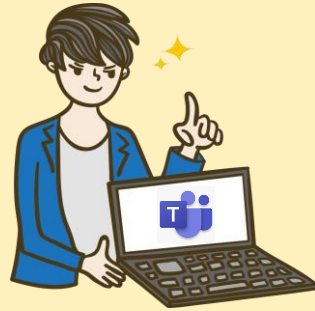

We forward group emails to branch offices and factories... Does everyone read them?

Recipient problems:

Why does the company still use email and the intranet for official communications when in-house communication is done using Microsoft Teams?

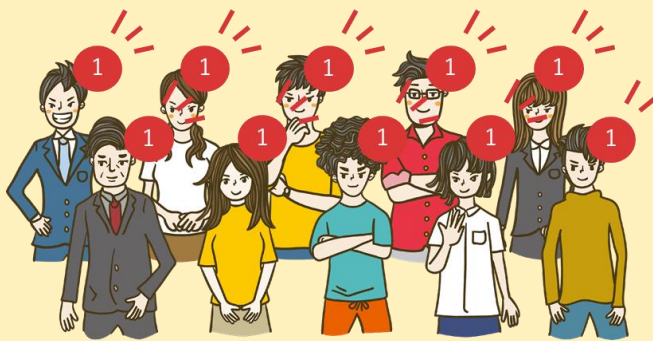

Administrators:

The "one-pitch-to-everyone" feature missing from Microsoft Teams

1. This is a push-type notification using "@name". The recipient is immediately notified of arrival.
2. 1,500 mails/minute can be delivered to a maximum of 150k recipients in a single operation.
3. We recommend customization to an app name and icon unique to the user company.
4. Adoption is hassle-free. All that is required is downloading by the administrator, followed by a simple setting procedure (less than 15 minutes).
5. The application is automatically installed on Microsoft Teams of recipients when the first message is delivered. Each message is delivered as an individual chat. No need to ask employees to install the application.
6. Messages are received from the application. The sender's personal name is not visible, so operations are secure.
7. Delivery can be set to company-wide or preset to division or branch office levels.

Plus, this SaaS will evolve! Exciting new features are coming soon!

Recipients:

Official company communications are routed to each individual and company-level notification is unified

1. Company messages are received via a channel with no extraneous chatter, so information is reliably conveyed in a timely manner and never missed.
2. This new in-house communication tool is designed to be concise and to the point (title, short straightforward sentences, eye-catching graphics, actions using URL links incorporating details from the linked sites, etc.)
3. The app minimizes miscommunication between the company and employees stemming from messages delivered separately via multiple tools.

Important messages are transmitted intuitively, with eye-catching visuals and short straightforward titles – an approach only achievable with chat

Maintenance notice from IT Division

 NewCommunicator

Emergency maintenance notice by IT O&M dept.

At 11:14 a.m. the storage program vendor XX informed us that unexpected system unit trouble is found in the YY server center.

They are now shutting down the program then out of service during the emergency repair work at their end.

It is expected to be recovered within a few hours once the auxiliary unit will be replaced.

We will let all of users know via this channel by NewCommunicator on Teams as immediately as the system will have been recovered to the stable in service. We are sorry for your inconvenience.

User-friendly operation and easy message creation

Just enter information into a standard template.

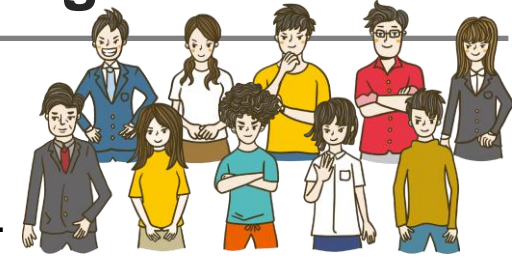

Messages can be easily created while looking at the preview window.

Right side: Design preview window

You can embed clickable links to in-house portal sites, forms, and so forth for the next action to be taken.

1-to-1 communication between company and employees

Every message is delivered with push notification to both chat & app.
No need to worry about where the company-level message has been posted.

The screenshot shows the New Communicator interface. On the left, a sidebar contains navigation icons: Chat (チャット), Team (チーム), Call (通話), Calendar (カレンダー), Files (ファイル), Planner (Planner), dev.TeamSt..., and App (アプリ). The main content area displays a welcome message in Japanese: "We welcome the many new members who have joined us this year! Our company's welcoming ceremony was held today, April 1. We welcomed 17 new members with diverse personalities, and their own fresh ambitions and dreams. These are the new members:" followed by a congratulatory graphic with the text "Congratulation! 入社おめでとう" and a grid of 17 new members' photos. Below the grid, it says "Self-introductions by the new members have been posted on the intranet. We hope you will actively make contacting with your new colleagues! We are all looking forward to working with our new members." and includes a button "Click here for self-introductions". A blue pop-up notification in the bottom right corner reads "NewCommunicator Self-introductions of fresh members welcomed !!".
