

ReadyDocs solves the document sprawl problem

Monitor, ingest, organize, classify, and manage your electronic records with the power of intelligent automation

How confident are you that you are complying with records management policies and regulations?

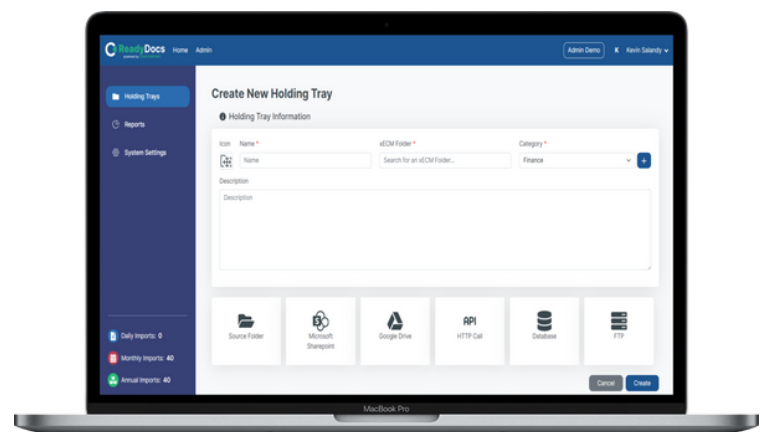

How much time and money do you spend on managing your electronic records across multiple systems?

How often do you struggle to find, access, and secure your documents?

What if there was a smarter and faster way to organize, classify, and manage your documents?

Introducing ReadyDocs

ReadyDocs is the smart way to automate and manage your electronic records and eliminate document sprawl. Don't let your documents pile up and become a liability. Let ReadyDocs help you turn your electronic records into an asset.

ReadyDocs is a no-code, AI-assisted intelligent automation solution for Sharepoint. With ReadyDocs, you can easily ingest, organize, classify, and manage documents across multiple systems. In addition, it enables simplified, automated, and reliable records management, allowing you to maintain compliance while you focus on your core mission.

Benefits

- Organize, classify, and manage your documents across multiple systems, and leverage your existing investment in content management
- Streamline and automate your electronic records management processes to save time, money, and resources
- Avoid the risks of non-compliance, losing valuable information, facing legal penalties, and damaging your reputation

Key Features

Import documents from various sources, such as Sharepoint, email, web, scan, fax, or mobile devices.

Classify and index documents based on their content, metadata, business rules, or any criteria.

Secure and protect your documents from unauthorized access, modification, or deletion

Search and retrieve documents quickly and easily using advanced filters and full-text search

Generate reports and audits on your records management activities and performance

Struggling with document sprawl? Ready to save time, money, and resources?
ReadyDocs is here to automate your document and records management processes.

Contact us today and discover the difference!

c20g.com | info@c20g.com