Transforming Customer Experiences in Housing

Navigating Key Challenges

UK housing sector professionals face significant challenges in customer communication, needing to integrate various methods like phone, email, and social media smoothly. Adhering to data privacy rules and organising customer information is crucial, alongside providing quick, resource-efficient service.

Key to their success is building strong customer relationships, ensuring each interaction from start to resolution is personalised and effective. They require tools for effective decision-making and data management while facilitating online customer self-service for enquiries and complaints. Ultimately, a cost-effective system that streamlines communication, ensures compliance, and supports intelligent decision-making is essential.

The Crimson team demonstrated great knowledge and experience of the technology, and developed a really effective solution for us. Thank you!”

Give Your Customers Sector-Leading Experiences

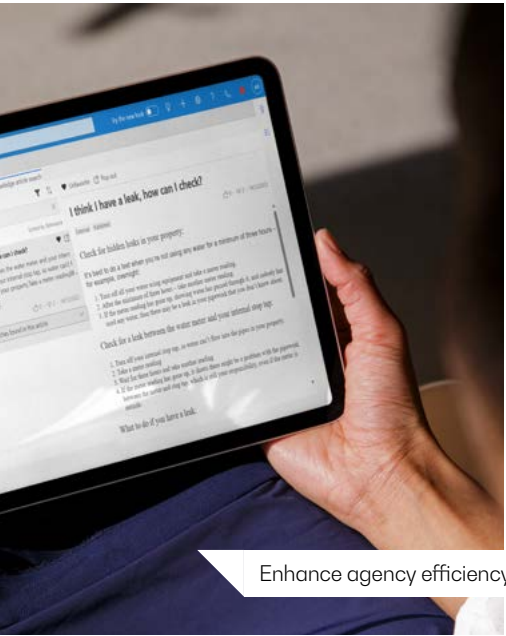

Crimson's Digital Contact Centre solution offers a comprehensive suite of features to transform customer interactions in the housing sector. With customisable interfaces and robust analytics, it provides critical insights for operational efficiency.

Communication Channel Integration

Integrate various communication channels like live chat, SMS, voice calls, and social media into a single interface, streamlining communication and offering customers multiple connection options—benefit from a more cohesive and convenient customer experience, enhancing satisfaction through their preferred communication methods.

Enhance agency efficiency with AI

Agent Productivity Tools

Tools like contextual customer identification, real-time notifications, routing, and AI-powered features boost agent efficiency and effectiveness. This leads to faster resolution of customer issues, improving satisfaction and reducing resolution times, making service interactions more efficient and customer-focused.

Quickly access data and insights

Supervisor Insights and Analytics

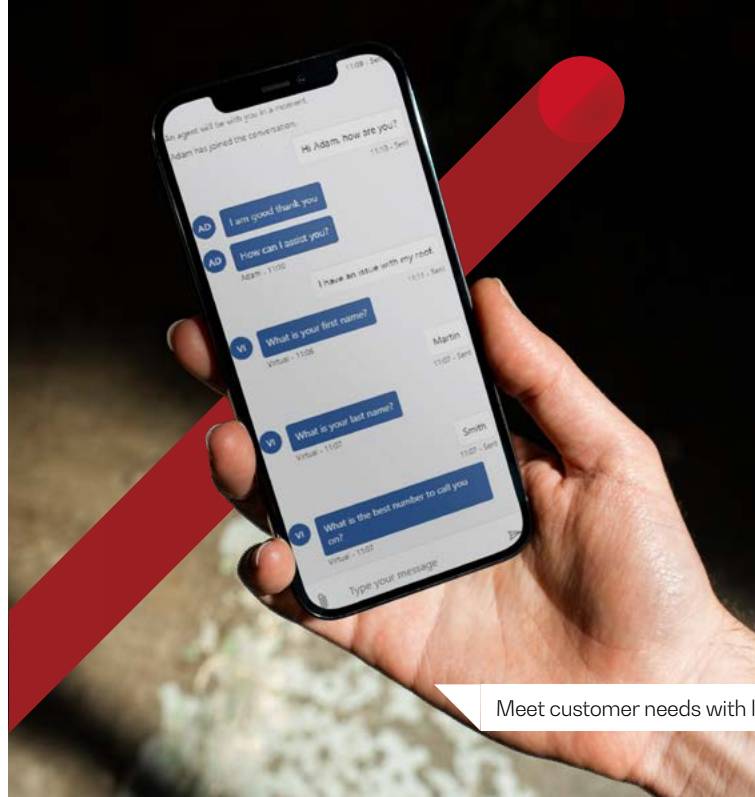

Supervisor features offer real-time and historical data on agent performance and channel utilisation. This enables informed, data-driven decision-making, optimising resource allocation and operational efficiency. These insights are crucial for maintaining high service standards and adapting strategies to meet evolving demands.

Automated Live Chat Efficiency

Automated BOT functionality for chat handling and knowledge base integration offers around-the-clock customer support and reduces manual workload. The customisable live chat widget allows for tailored branding and personalisation in customer interactions. This increases overall efficiency and ensures continuous service, meeting customer needs at any time and improving their overall service experience.

Meet customer needs with live chat

Data Management and Security

Secure handling of customer data and compliance with GDPR data protection regulations ensures privacy and builds trust. This is crucial in maintaining a strong reputation for data security and demonstrates a commitment to protecting customer information, fostering a secure and trustworthy relationship with customers.

Comprehensive Customer Engagement

The solution's ability to engage customers across different channels, enhanced by AI-based suggestions, provides a deeper understanding of customer needs. This leads to more personalised service, fostering improved relationships and heightened customer satisfaction through tailored interactions.

“

Crimson has brought a combination of practical advice and a broader perspective that is supporting our goal of offering a sector leading experience.”
