UEM System Migration can be difficult and very time consuming...

- Large organisations migrating 000's of users manually can take many months, if not years, to complete
- Manual enrolment campaigns are a large draw on IT resources
- Disruptive to the End User and impact productivity
- Difficult to track progress and spot recurring problems
- Greater chance of process errors

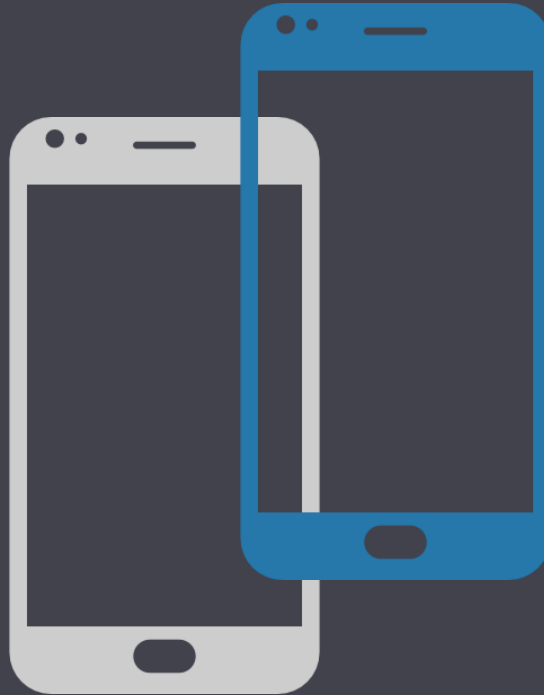

Many organisations want to change but are concerned by the time, effort and cost...

Manual Migration Challenges...

Administrators need to get all users to migrate - without having information about who migrated

Users need to continue and complete the migration

The help desk needs to solve problems of end users

Administrators need to configure the new system

Administrators need to develop a guideline and inform all users

Users need to follow the instructions and perform the migration

• Systems we cover...
