publish ONE

End-to-end solution to create, manage and publish your professional content
Uniquely integrated with world's best liked editor MS Word

PublishOne is the end-to-end content creation, management and publication solution in use by major business and educational publishers, technology providers and government institutions. It is a highly configurable - SaaS - application that is used equally effectively by small, mid-size and large companies.

Cloud based authoring solution for professional content

PublishOne brings you an integrated authoring and publication environment, allowing teams to work together in creating, updating, reviewing and publishing content. PublishOne is seamlessly integrated with Microsoft Word. Using automated publishing with customizable templates, ready content is distributed fast and consistent with your brand guidelines.

Why customers use PublishOne

- Shorten time-to-market for learning content

- Maximize efficiency creating blended on- and offline content

- Maximize consistency of approved look and feel

- Authoring environment and editor that is quickly adopted and liked by Authors

- Quick implementation, fast initial production

- Fully integrated in Microsoft Azure

Easy to use

- Use the editor most people know well: Microsoft Word

- Access your content though a highly intuitive user interface

- Have browser based, secure access from anywhere in the world

- Easily configure your own PublishOne workflow processes and contributor roles

Shorten time-to-market for your professional content

Distribute your content

- Publish to paper, e-learning, on-line or any other channel simultaneously

- Use standard templates to consistently produce high quality output

- Have complete control over versions: PublishOne offers a single source of reference

Consistent authoring process, managing all aspects from creation through production

Integrate PublishOne

- All clients use the same version: the latest

- Truly integrate PublishOne into your enterprise

- All user functions have a corresponding API

- Connect workflows using the Azure Event Grid

Maximize efficiency by fully using Microsoft Azure

Transition from print to digital is happening in the knowledge industry. Wolters Kluwer searched for a tool that would allow authors to publish in a future-proof and easy way. The solution I needed had to be customizable and intuitive to use.

- Rimco Spanjer, Director Content, Wolters Kluwer

publish ONE
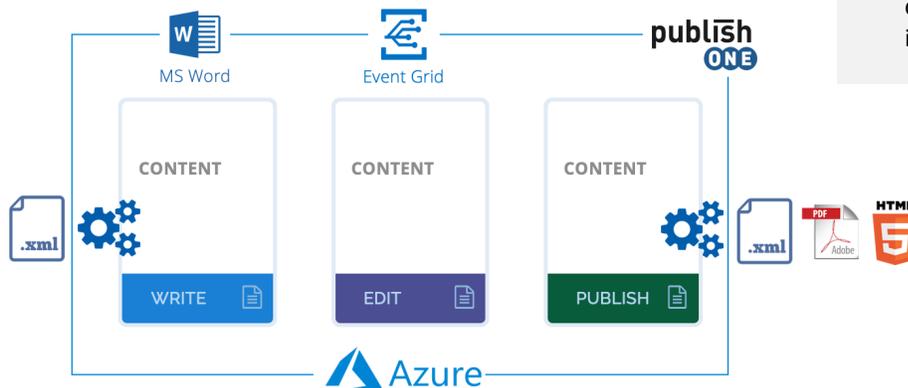

PublishOne is your future-proof solution

PublishOne customers work together to scope the future

- Working with customers to determine product enhancements is a commitment in our Service Level Agreement

- New releases benefit all customers with improvements in line with their own priorities

- All customers use the latest release and all have actively participated in creating it

PublishOne brings you the benefits of Azure

- Using the platform-as-a-service model, PublishOne sits at the forefront of Azure

- PublishOne brings Azure state-of-the-art to your doorstep, ranging from real-time replication for Disaster Recovery to using Artificial Intelligence service like Azure Computer Vision

- Our customers have a solution they can rely on. It is available 24x7.and well protected. It brings you the latest developments without the need re-invest

MS Word Event Grid publish ONE

CONTENT CONTENT CONTENT

.xml WRITE EDIT PUBLISH .xml PDF Adobe HTML 5

Azure

A familiar new solution

- Use Microsoft Word to create and change your content – use it as you always have done

- Use the workflow process that you know well by simply configuring it in PublishOne

- Produce the output in line with your branding guidelines automatically

Why PublishOne?

PublishOne is a unique authoring and distribution application powered by Microsoft Azure. It allows your authors to work with Microsoft Word and your editors to use the workflow they know well. You will produce high quality output to many channels. And you will benefit from the insights of all our customers.

publish ONE