CLOUD SCAN

CHALLENGE

APPROACH

DIRECTION

Nowadays the cloud is indispensable within the strategy of most companies. Most of the IT managers considers a move to the cloud when implementing new or upgrading existing systems.

There is no "easy" button in migration

Every migration has its complexity. Companies are using different amounts of customizations, but it is a misunderstanding that a migration to the cloud with little customizations is easy. That is why many companies are hesitant to move to the cloud and that is not without a reason.

However, the cloud also offers flexibility, is cost efficient and allows your staff to work better together with higher productivity as a result. It offers real-time insights anytime, so you can make better management decisions.

Our Solution

Dynamic People offers its Cloud Scan especially for determining whether your migration to the cloud will be light, medium or heavy. The Cloud Scan provides insight into what a migration implies for your company: how many days are needed for a proof of concept, what would a proof of concept look like and an initial project plan for the entire process (a migration without process adjustment).

Dynamic People does a comprehensive check on the data, the functional design and the technical design. This includes an analysis of entities, records, design & solutions, business processes, reports, plugins and integrations.

Deliverables

- Insight into the challenges of a migration
- A plan of approach for performing the migration

Dynamic People

With a team of experienced professionals we deliver industry standard solutions to ambitious (inter) national organizations to structurally improve business results.

Dynamic People is the Microsoft GOLD partner that makes ERP and CRM really work together. Since the start in 2006, our certified consultants have helped a variety of reputable customers and we take the extra mile where others stop. We like to think outside the box, which makes Dynamic People anything but a traditional IT house.

We do not limit ourselves to parts of your business, but rather make the necessary cross-connections from a holistic point of view. This is how we automate and optimize your business processes and allow you to take maximum advantage of today's technology.

Within Dynamic People, we have earned our stripes over the years as a reliable implementation partner in many different industries, but we have specialist knowledge in Trade & Commodity, Finance and Professional Services.
