Supplier Management

Purpose-built supplier management console: The purpose-built role-based console provides account details, technical details, monitoring of electronic data message status, and most importantly, a single view on supplier relationship health. This reporting section can be a powerful conduit to provide information on how well the supplier is performing in relation to the other suppliers to this facility.

The Supplier Relationship Management app, under the Manufacturing Accelerator, was inspired by numerous customer conversations regarding their current challenges and how an efficient solution can help to improve the collaboration between manufacturers and their suppliers.

Welcome to Contoso Supplier Management

Your gateway for onboarding, support, and documentation

Once you onboard your organization, you can access business process documentation, OpenAPI contracts, and even test consoles by navigating through the various below Supply Chain functions. You'll also be able to access the homepage for the Contoso Supply Chain Portal and our developer community. Read the information below to learn more about what's available once you onboard.

Register and Onboard Your Organization

Register for an account with us and then start onboarding your Organization to the manufacturing supplier portal. Onboarding is where you'll explain how your company works, the resources you have, and the technology you use.

Once you're registered and onboarded, your development team will be able to Sign In and access API's, documentation, and start connecting your company's systems with ours.
