

Do you want to track your carbon emissions?

We provide software that will enable your organisation to

- Calculate your current carbon emissions based on your activities
- Identify options for potential savings
- Track them over time to demonstrate your progress

If your organisation wants to make a difference for the planet, we can help you get there.

About Evaluate8

At Evaluate8 Sustainability, we know just how hard, time-consuming and expensive it can be to work out how to be clean and green without help. That's why we created a software package to estimate greenhouse gas emissions and track them over time for the general business market, so you can see your organisation's progress towards your goals in lowering emissions. You input information about your organisation through our survey and our software considers energy use, waste production, travel, and allowances for other office activities and expenses.

We expect to be releasing a new version shortly which enables you to provide access to your organisation's data through Xero, reducing the data entry effort required to generate the answers you need.

In the medium term, we expect to expand this out to include other common accounting software packages such as MYOB, QuickBooks and Oracle. These updates will be provided free to existing customers. We are working on a more sophisticated version that also makes suggestions, based on your organisation's data, on how you could reduce your emissions and make energy savings, and benchmarks your organisation against others in your industry.

We judge our success on how well we can help you reduce emissions and make energy savings.
