Businesses need access to their internal systems without contacting a 3rd party

Many modern businesses have purchased their Microsoft products from a third-party provider like GoDaddy. These companies are stuck utilizing these 3rd party systems instead of those created and designed for Microsoft solutions.

CHALLENGES

Organizations need to make changes to their tenants, whether it be adding users or installing new programs. Unfortunately, for businesses purchasing from providers like GoDaddy, they never receive full access to their tenants, and to make certain changes within the system, must contact their provider.

IDEAL SOLUTION

Take back and control your tenant internally. Finchloom has developed a solution to provide permanent access to your tenant without the need for a messy migration. With your permission, Finchloom will become your CSP and guide you through all Microsoft has to offer when your business is in control.

DESIRED OUTCOMES

Full access to your tenant, unabated by the confines of your provider. Add and remove licenses, receive personalized services, and internalize control of your business systems and programs. Businesses will stop paying higher premiums for less access to the services which are being paid for.

GoDaddy Defederation

Allow your Microsoft products to work for you. Get access to all the features you pay for without the hassle of dealing with a 3rd party provider who does not specialize in the Microsoft space.

1

Utilize Azure AD as the Identity Provider

Finchloom will make the switch to Azure AD for your business and associate ourselves with the tenant as a CSP.

2

Finchloom becomes a delegated Admin

As an authorized reseller of Microsoft, Finchloom, with your permission will start as your CSP for all things Microsoft.

3

Full Access to your Tenant with our help

Finchloom acts as a property manager, the property being your tenant. You have full access and ownership and if you ever need assistance, we can help!

Defederate with Finchloom

Whether you need guided assistance for a specific project, want to purchase new licenses for specific programs, or simply want full internal control of your tenant, now is your time to make the move. Finchloom is here to make the move from a 3rd party provider like GoDaddy as quick, easy, and transparent as possible.

Manage Microsoft credentials and accesses

As your CSP, we'll walk you through the process of adding new users, providing access to essential programs, and more.

Add Microsoft apps and services

Whether you need to access a customer relationship management (CRM) system or build an app, you will have full access to your tenant with admin rights.

Navigate Microsoft support with ease

As your CSP, if you need assistance with Microsoft products, we can help with resolving and escalating all your support requests.

Customer success: Learning to use Microsoft 365 to its full potential

“Finchloom made the GoDaddy defederation process seem simple... [and] was communicative, responded quickly, and completed the work in a timely manner. This project was executed flawlessly and gave our company the benefits of greater control, more flexibility, increased security, and major cost savings. We would happily work with Finchloom again.” – Scott Densmore, COO Patent Books Inc.
