

Take back your tenant with Finchloom

Kick out GoDaddy and other 3rd-party providers.

You don't have full control of your own Microsoft tenant

Many businesses buy Microsoft 365 through a reseller like GoDaddy.

Instead of a tenant built and run the way Microsoft intends, they're stuck operating inside someone else's system.

Adding a user, installing a program, or changing a setting means opening a ticket instead of just doing it

Every change — big or small — has to go through the provider and wait on their timeline

Full price for Microsoft 365, but only partial access to what it actually offers

GoDaddy stays in control by design

When you buy Microsoft 365 through GoDaddy, GoDaddy — not you — is set up as the technical owner of your tenant.

GoDaddy sits as your Cloud Solution Provider and Global Admin, so admin rights live with them, not your IT team

Your identity is federated through GoDaddy's systems instead of a Microsoft-native provider like Azure AD

As long as that relationship stands, you need GoDaddy in the loop for changes Microsoft built you to make yourself

Defederate with Finchloom, and you keep the keys

A proven process to hand tenant control back to you, without a disruptive migration.

Step 1: Move to Microsoft Entra ID

Finchloom switches your identity provider to Entra ID, Microsoft's native cloud identity provider.

Step 2: Finchloom becomes your CSP

As an authorized Microsoft reseller, we take over as your Cloud Solution Provider with your permission.

Step 3: You get full tenant access

Think of us as a property manager, not landlord: you own and control the tenant, we're on call if you need us.

Everything you need to run your own tenant

Once you're defederated, day-to-day control comes back to you.
We're the backstop, not the bottleneck.

Manage credentials & access

Add users and grant access yourself, guided by us as your CSP.

Add Microsoft apps & services

Full admin rights to connect a CRM, build an app, or add any Microsoft service you need.

Escalate support directly

When you need Microsoft support, we help resolve and escalate. No reseller stuck in the middle.

What you get after defederation

Full, unrestricted access to your own tenant

Add or remove licenses on your own schedule

Personalized, direct support, not a generic reseller queue

Lower costs: stop paying premiums for access you weren't getting

"Finchloom made the GoDaddy defederation process seem simple... executed flawlessly, and gave our company greater control, more flexibility, increased security, and major cost savings."
