

FIS RECONCILIATION SERVICES

Modern reconciliation service models positioned for scalability and agility

As cost pressures increase, transaction volumes grow and settlement cycles shrink, reconciliation operations face tremendous pressure.

Organizations are now rethinking traditional operating models and looking to reposition themselves for growth, focusing on how to leverage technology, workflow and people to drive greater value. The competitive advantage comes down to cost and service. Forward-thinking firms have moved past the need to manage reconciliation in-house by adopting outsourced reconciliation operations to control TCO.

With FIS® Reconciliation Services, you get the benefits of outsourcing the reconciliation function as well as the confidence that time-consuming processes will be managed efficiently and securely by a team of experts who understand data integrity.

FIS helps organizations of all sizes meet business and compliance requirements by leveraging our reconciliation services to bring new levels of efficiency, transparency and performance to your back-office operations.

Underpinning our solution is our unique service model, developed over our 20-year history. With our proven approach to managing successful large-scale conversions, you are positioned to gain more capacity and scale your business.
