Overview

Protecting systems, data and users has never been more challenging. Whilst cloud-enabled remote workforces have grown, cyber threats are also growing rapidly in volume and sophistication.

For many organisations, traditional incident investigation and response processes are complex, slow, and expensive – in today's climate, they are simply unfit for purpose.

Get started with our FREE 1-Day Health Check that is designed for organisations that want to keep pace with evolving threats by pairing their existing security model with a next-generation solution. The Health Check explores and compares how all 'cloud-native' security features are being utilised, how they are performing against current Microsoft best practices and how to make the most of the latest Cloud technology. The goal of the Health Check is to provide a clear understanding of how unlocking security features can contribute to your business, from securing the organisation to saving costs.

Secure IT the right way. Fordway.
