To assist our customers in initiating their use cases for agents developed in Copilot Studio, we provide the "Exploration - Use Case Discovery" service. This service aims to aid customers in identifying the appropriate challenges and investigating pertinent use cases for their organization.

The objective of "Exploration - Use Case Discovery" is to motivate and assist you in recognizing and outlining relevant use cases for agents within Copilot Studio. By learning from the successes of others and engaging in our workshop, you will be able to compile a thorough initial list of ideas. These ideas will subsequently be refined into a more detailed final list that highlights the potential value for your organization.

Inspiration
A presentation focused on Copilot Studio and agents, where we share insights and examples of how other organizations have implemented successful solutions.

Workshop: Use Case Discovery
An interactive workshop where we explore and brainstorm relevant use cases for your organization together with you.

Summary and high value scenarios
A summary of the ideas and insights that emerged during the workshop, including a rough list of potential use cases as well as a detailed list of the use cases that are deemed to have the highest value and potential for your business.

Easier business case for selected scenarios
For the most promising use cases, we develop simpler business cases that demonstrate their potential value.
