

Azure Cloud-Native Development: 3 Month Implementation Project

Transform your applications with Azure's cloud-native services. Our offering includes designing and developing applications using Azure App Service and Azure Functions for serverless computing. We leverage Azure Kubernetes Service (AKS) and Azure Container Apps for container orchestration, ensuring your applications are scalable and resilient. Additionally, we integrate Azure DevOps for continuous integration and delivery, streamlining your development lifecycle.

We design systems that are not only technically sound but also built for long-term maintainability and change-readiness. From developer workflows to infrastructure provisioning, our aim is to create foundations that teams can evolve confidently over time.

This approach is especially effective in organizations seeking to modernize legacy systems incrementally. We help identify suitable candidates for refactoring or full rebuild, ensuring minimal disruption while maximizing the value of modern cloud capabilities.
