Accelerate Healthcare workloads move to Azure cloud services using HealthConnect

About GlobalLogic / HealthConnect

GlobalLogic, a Hitachi company, is a trusted design, data, and digital engineering partner to the world's largest and most forward-thinking companies.

What we offer

The healthcare Industry is undergoing significant transformation which includes enhancing patient engagement in managing their health, adopting value-based care, payment for outcome models and remote patient care systems. This shift is leading to widespread adoption of connected healthcare solutions.

GlobalLogic HealthConnect is a comprehensive suite of services, tools, and capabilities designed to address various aspects of building a modern Medical Data Platform. It provides a set of accelerators for rapid application development, connectivity, and interoperability, integrated with AI/GenAI. This solution accelerator enables clients to connect patients, surgeons, clinicians, devices, technologies, and data across the entire health continuum, from consumers to clinicians, administrators, and researchers.

HealthConnect, built on Azure cloud services, provides a seamless and efficient pathway to accelerate the migration of healthcare workloads to the cloud, leveraging the full capabilities of Azure's robust platform like Azure ML pipelines, Blob Storage, Health Data Services, AKS, App Service, DevOps and many more.
