

FINTECH. ELEVATED.

WaaSabi is a Wallet as a Service, designed to propel any company into the Fintech universe, for those industries that need to add payments and collections to their business and require support in technical knowledge, identifying strategic partners and navigating the regulatory landscape. It provides an API platform that offers customers the flexibility and security to develop a custom e-wallet with the security of PCI compliance. The solution enables end-users to perform a variety of key collection and payment tasks, including integration with software and hardware experiences, in both Individual and Legal Entity oriented products, in Initiator as well as Aggregator models.

Traditional fintech companies address digital inclusion through software but the truest financial inclusion requires something else:

Smarter technology and new players in the market.

Companies can expand their core business and add a new vertical, creating new revenue streams
