DID YOU KNOW?

We are the largest digital grain trading platform in Latin America;

The largest base of effectively engaged and active rural producers;

The largest and most diverse base of grain buying companies;

We have the largest number of digitally connected businesses;

In addition to offering various services to support you throughout the grain trading process.

Grão Direto is a digital platform that is a reference in the sale of grains in Latin America, serving thousands of farmers and buyers, such as feed mills, cooperatives, trading companies, warehouses, brokers, cattle confinement, farms, among others.

The platform can operate both in spot market transactions, as well as in the forward/future market and in barter transactions. In addition, the company offers customized solutions to its users, supporting them in their digital transformation.

These services include market intelligence, digitization of the supplier base, digital document and contract management, real-time grain pricing tools from user-defined inputs, origination insights, and integration with social and environmental compliance solutions. Everything to make the grain trade more efficient, modern and sustainable.
