Kyndryl Distributed Cloud for Microsoft Azure Stack HCI with Azure Arc

Customer challenges

Many customers with responsibilities in infrastructure technology and cloud managed services have plans to modernize and migrate their mission critical workloads onto Microsoft® Azure®. But digital transformation can be stalled by skills gaps associated with managing diverse IT environments with varying tools and degrees of user experience. Other common challenges are:

→ Workloads may have strict data sovereignty, latency, or security requirements
→ Disparate IT environments present manual and time-consuming management processes
→ There is a limited availability of resources
→ Legacy infrastructure is costly to run and maintain → Managing security and compliance on a global scale is highly complex

Solution highlights

Kyndryl™ Distributed Cloud for Microsoft Azure Stack HCI with Azure Arc provides end-to-end services for Azure Stack HCI with Azure Arc. Kyndryl designs, plans, implements, and manages a Microsoft Azure Stack HCI environment to help customers innovate anywhere. This fully integrated offering helps you quickly establish a private cloud hyperconverged infrastructure. The solution includes:

→ Pre-architected and validated Microsoft HCI-certified hardware with Azure Arc software for single-pane of glass management across all platforms
→ Support for on-premises, multicloud, hybrid, branch office, and edge deployments

→ Strategy, architecture, migration, orchestration, deployment, and workload management services
→ Implementation of incremental Azure Stack features or workloads such as backup, virtualization, containers, VDI, and database
→ Expert delivery team from Kyndryl and the flexibility to add incremental services

Customer benefits

Gain a unified experience across all your platforms and deployment types with Kyndryl Distributed Cloud for Microsoft Azure Stack HCI with Azure Arc. Kyndryl is a single trusted provider that can quickly design, coordinate, implement and virtualize your private cloud infrastructure, wherever you choose to deploy. We can help you achieve reduced complexity and deep integration with Azure Arc for centralized management of distributed IT assets. Customers benefit through:

1 Greater flexibility – Kyndryl offers a variety of options based on business needs and goals spanning design, planning, implementation, and managed services

2 Cloud-like billing – Customers only pay for what they consume, while benefitting from increased scalability and business agility

3 Faster time to value – Cloud automation and Kyndryl managed services enable customers to refocus team resources on innovation instead of maintenance, while also seeing accelerated resource deployment

4 Greater control – Customers have granular control over their infrastructure and data, allowing support over strict data sovereignty and compliance regulations
