

Data Innovation/Data Modernisation

Lift and Shift Proof-of-Concept Offer

What is the value?

Data Innovation, or Data Modernisation, can improve scalability and performance, as well as reduce cost. However, the process is a multi-step journey, which means it can sometimes be difficult to know where to begin. A proof-of-concept (PoC) approach can get you started, validate assumptions, and provide an example of value for your team. Our Lift and Shift migration offer will demonstrate exactly how a workload can be moved to the Azure cloud.

How does it work?

This 3 week jump start effort is designed to provide an example of how much value can come from moving a single application or workload to the cloud.

In the first phase of this PoC, we assess your environment, applications, and migration readiness. In the second phase, we migrate one application or workload to Azure, providing knowledge transfer sessions along the way.

Deliverables

- ▶ Documented assessment of your current environment and readiness
- ▶ The migration of a single application to Azure PaaS
