

Project Management Systems are a foundation of project success

Most organisations couldn't deliver many projects without reliable processes and procedures. None would ever imagine delivering projects and administering contracts without legacy systems, spreadsheets and documents.

...yet delivering projects on time and within budget is still a struggle.

Globally, projects are becoming increasingly complex and difficult to administer, yet organisations still rely on old tools and systems. The challenges of delivering projects and administering many complicated contracts have simply outgrown the systems available.

Large sets of data from various sources of information.

Many contracts, unprecedented accountability and risk to owners.

Teams overburdened with administration.

Reports are immediately ancient history.

least 10%.

Australian economy $7 billion a year and add 6-7% to the average

Where Mastt comes in Mastt is a cloud enterprise solution for managing and administering contracts. We reduce complexity and increase efficiency without touching a single document or spreadsheet, giving organisations, PMOs, program managers and project managers a new predictive and reliable way to deliver projects.

Your World Before

A life without visibility.

"It would have been good to know this last month when it actually happened!"

Receives report data that is 30-60 days out of date.

Too little too late to mitigate risk or issues. Thinks project teams are performing poorly.

Executive Team

Your World + ₩mastt Digital Revolution - full transparency, real-time reporting.

No longer relies on reports generated for them with access to live dashboards. Get anytime access to the true state of the organisation based on real-time data.

"What is the value of our current contract commitments?"

Limited reliability in program and project data.

Strategy & Operational Staff

Informed, reliable decision making for key metrics of the organisation's program of works.

Impossible to identify project, contract and financial risks before they occur.

Wastes time collating hundreds of documents and spreadsheets for Executive reports.

With predictive insights, focus attention to projects and contracts in order to stop blockages and issues before they occur.

Program Managers

"I just finished this month's report, now I have to start next months!" Constant duplication of effort and double handling in spreadsheets and documents.

By the time a report is generated and delivered, it's ancient history.

Project Managers

order to take actions needed to stop cost and time blowouts. Less time spent in documents

Immediately spot risks and issues in and spreadsheets, more time applying experience.

Relying on hundreds of spreadsheet tabs to keep track of contract data.

Manual data entry for contracts, variations, claims, cash flow, risk and other project information.

Support Staff

No spreadsheets to format or enter data, key processes and procedures are automated freeing up time to invest in higher impact project activities.

Contact hello@mastt.com.au to see what Mastt can do for your organisation.