Contingent or permanent, project-based or ongoing – MojoRank intelligently reads and understands job descriptions and instantly surfaces and ranks the best candidates with aligned goals.

Welcome to the Future of Recruiting

Companies that receive thousands of applications can easily get bogged down in the hiring process. MojoRank eliminates inefficiency and protects investments in human capital by aligning the right talent with the right job, every time. Training our algorithms on millions of candidates and job descriptions then having each validated by HR experts has created an unprecedented matching ability.

New applicants are carefully evaluated and compared against all other candidates in your ATS, then ranked for not just one specific job, but for every open job. This amplifies efficiency and enables recruiters to instantly initiate contact with the best matches, without having to sift through lesser-qualified candidates.

Deployment is fast and easy, since the solution integrates with any existing HR system and technology stack, so companies can enjoy its benefits right away without modifying or replacing any existing platforms. It can benefit any mid-sized to enterprise business with a heavy applicant flow, regardless of the industry.
