This program will contribute and alleviate typical business problems like:

Your team cannot derive the conversion ratio from various data sources to measure leads to deals across your customer value chain.

Or

It takes your department or team very long to consolidate reporting from various sources - currently it is all done manually.

You accumulated a wealth of data over the last couple of years, but you are finding it difficult to make a meaningful comparisons over certain periods to tell your board members the true story using data.

You are a business function needs to derives and consolidates your own data and then visualize insights, like

- Consolidation of Sales / Revenue / Turnover figures from multiple sources.

- Compare my expenses or actuals vs. budget over various financial years.

- Compare how profitable my products are over time in comparison to other products

You are from a business background with years of experience in your field (i.e., Finance, Logistics, Manufacturing, Supply Chain, Human Resources), but you struggle to keep up with the changing technology trends to produce meaningful insights for your stakeholders, it just feels too technical.
