

Get started with Business Central

This is how it works, step by step.

The concept for Business Central Start has been developed with one focus, to get you up and running quick. Even though we do most of the work, an effort from you is required to make the implementation go as smoothly as possible. Together, we ensure that your new business solution is in place as soon as possible. If you want to get a little more in-depth information, contact us!

Secure your delivery week

Book a week when we do the implementation so all preparations are in place at that time.

Implementation & training

The delivery week is here and we are carrying out the implementation. This is where data is migrated and the system is prepared for use already by the end of the week.

We also hold a basic training course with an online consultant so that you feel comfortable starting to work in the system immediately.

Your Business Central is live!

The delivery week ends with a "go live call" where we review the implementation and give you access to the system. This is also the time when we introduce you to our customer service team.
