IDProof+

High Identity Assurance for Remote Users with Microsoft Entra Verified ID

The latest wave of cyber threats is targeting the vulnerabilities created by remote work. Help desks, contractor onboarding, and job applicant screenings are being exploited through deepfakes, impersonation, and sophisticated social engineering, often backed by nation-state actors.

This is a widespread and growing concern across industries, and organizations need a way to stay ahead of the threat.

Oxford Computer Group, a MajorKey Technologies Company, created IDProof+ to counter these threats. Leveraging your existing Microsoft infrastructure, IDProof+ uses advanced identity validation workflows to verify users against government-issued IDs.

By integrating Microsoft Entra Verified ID with Face Check, IDProof+ helps organizations establish high assurance identity verification at every critical interaction, transforming your identity systems into a strategic line of defense.

Key Use Cases

- Remote Job Candidates: Ensure that the candidate being interviewed is indeed the person you intended to hire.
- Help Desk Callers: Prevent spoofing and fraud by bad actors.
- Contractor Onboarding: Authenticate the identity of offshore contractors as required.
