

PathPresenter provides a web-based service to connect pathologists, radiologists, clinicians and life science researchers to share medical data and build tools for enhancing medical education, patient care and management. Current presentations, tumor boards, or transporting of medical images is cumbersome. Each path a patients info takes on their journey through patient care deserves to have the highest caliber of investigation. Using PathPresenter will create a seamless environment for you to use, share and collaborate with fellow clinicians throughout the world to learn, teach, present and practice better medicine.