Power Virtual Agent Proof of Value

Resolving your pain-points

Development of a Power Virtual Agent Demonstration

Designed to demonstrate a solution to a particular 'Pain Point'

'Prototype' demonstrator

Can be used as a blueprint for a future solution design

This five-day, mini project has been specifically developed to help your organisation resolve a particular pain-point you may be experiencing with the aid of the Power Virtual Agent.

Showcasing the benefits and business value that a bot solution can add to your organisation; how it can be used as a sales tool for your wider business or to support a specific business case and how it can be used to evaluate functionality and solution options within the buying cycle.

During the workshop, our QUANTIQ Expert Consultant will help you develop a prototype demonstrator to specifically tackle the pain-point that has been highlighted, with the aim for it to be used for future design within your organisation.
