

SSTech offers OKR (Objective and Key Results) adoption consulting services, providing guidance and support to organizations in implementing the OKR framework effectively. OKRs are a goal-setting methodology that aligns individuals and teams towards organizations strategic objectives, fostering a culture of transparency, accountability, and continuous improvement. OKR brings people together to work on a common goal.

SSTech subject matter experts will work closely with leaders to translate the organization strategy into objectives and key results. We help organizations to write their own OKR's as it is highly customizable framework, and it is essential for organization success.

Microsoft Viva Goals is a goal-alignment solution that connects teams' organization's strategic priorities, unites them around organization mission and purpose, and drives business results. Microsoft Viva Goals uses the strengths of the objectives and key results (OKR) framework to achieve this.

Viva Goals fits with the employee experience because it is a component of Microsoft Viva, enabling teams to perform at their peak wherever they are.

Our engineering team have an extensive experience in helping customers to adopt Microsoft Viva.
