Par Pacific uses new, remote project management on Azure to optimize field productivity

"As technology innovators, we need to rethink how we drive enterprise value in changing times. At Par Pacific we're helping our workforce get more done in the field while in it; and we're achieving total real-time access to critical project data thanks to Azure. OhZone on Azure is a game-changing competitive advantage."

- Sudhakar Virupakshi, CIO
  Par Pacific

ON-TIME PROJECT PLEDGE
Par's OhZone rollout is coupled with an On-Time Pledge. Though, on average, projects across all industries are delivered on time about half the time, Par hasn't blemished its perfect record yet.

VISIBILITY LESSENS SCOPE CREEP
Because all project assets are visible and accessible to permissioned users, Par has seen a marked decrease in scope creep. That's good news to the CIO. "We can only manage what we can see," he said.

SAVINGS REINVESTMENTS
Because Par has seen a 30% improvement to budget vs. actual, the company is immediately plowing new-found savings into more Digital Transformation initiatives leveraging the power of Azure.
