

SimplyVital Health is on a mission to bring more trust and value to Healthcare with decentralized technologies and advanced analytics.

To help push that dream forward, we have brought our Aletheia API to the Microsoft Azure store.

Aletheia is an API solution that allows you to leverage blockchain characteristics to build trust within processes. Aletheia provides a medium to create and store application events on a public blockchain ledger. This provides an immutable record that can be accessed for establishing proof of concept for infinite verification. This is achieved through a simple API that stores cryptographic hashes along with meta-data onto a public blockchain, using smart contracts.

What can this be used for:

This can be used for many different tasks and products, ranging from providing secure records for your healthcare data for audits and regulatory purposes to FinTech, where it can be used to secure your accounting and financial data,

About Health Nexus:

Health Nexus is the revolutionary healthcare-safe blockchain that provides a permission decentralized system for Healthcare. It is based on a fork of the Ethereum network and provides healthcare grade standards, or HIPAA compatibility, by implementing a governance protocol that allows for on-chain voting and secure node validation. It also leverages a key pair system (KPS). The KPS is a system based on research done at MIT that allows for secure governance, transacting and auditing of sensitive off-chain data. It already has multiple use cases being developed ranging from Opioid tracking to music distribution (it is vertical agnostic).

About SimplyVital Health:

SimplyVital Health - We make access to healthcare data simple by building the innovative infrastructure that improves outcomes and decreases the cost of healthcare and promotes the path towards a globally affordable healthcare system with optimal outcomes.

To learn more or get more information on SimplyVital Health, Aletheia, or Health Nexus check out their website at www.simplyvitalhealth.com or their medium page <https://medium.com/simplyvital>! They are also a great source for Healthcare, Technology, Blockchain and Decentralized Technologies(DLT) and AI information!