

Viva in Teams: 4-Week Implementation

Building of Teams applications that allow users to interact with data directly from Viva

The Problem

The Viva platform helps people and businesses thrive with recommendations to improve productivity and wellbeing. However, that information can get lost in the shuffle when it is not easily presented to employees. Nobody likes to go searching for information, and quick data accessibility is very important for an even richer employee experience.

The Solution

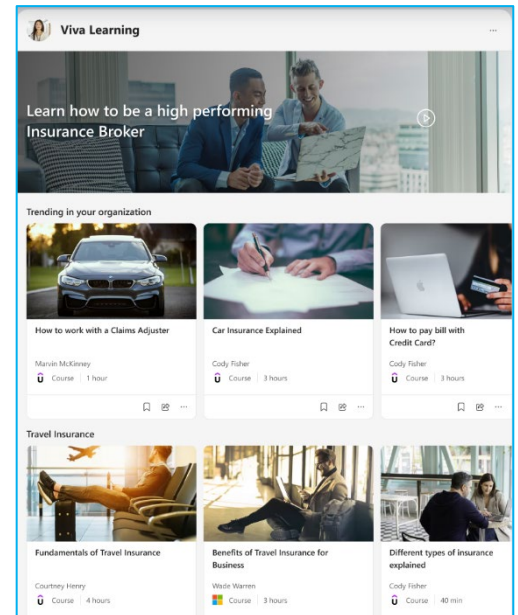

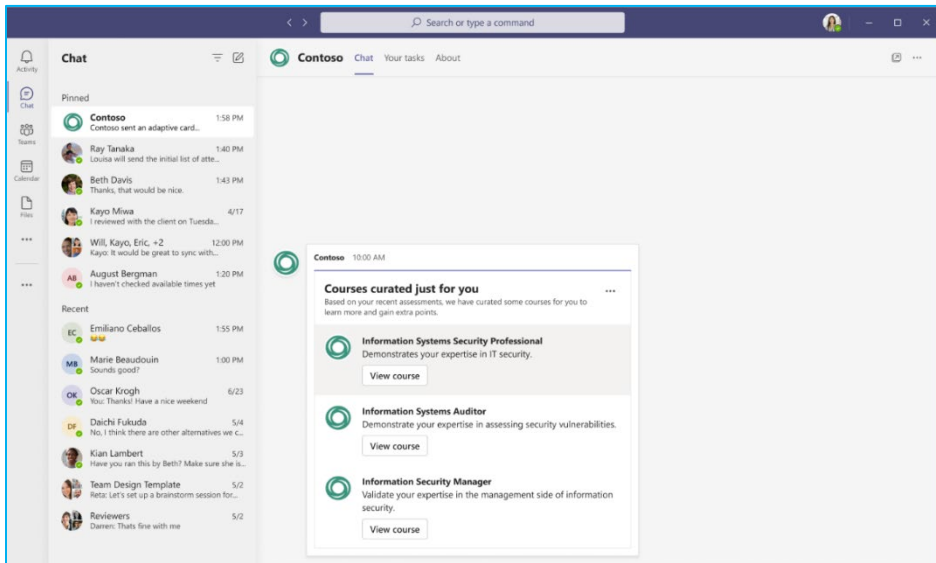

The Spyglass Viva in Teams offering allows you to curate the specific information you want sent out to employees, and these messages will be presented to them directly on their Teams window. Our offering delivers personalized card views into your company's critical employee resources through Teams' adaptive cards and Viva data sources. The Teams Apps integration with Viva provides employees one-touch access to information and actions without leaving Teams. Spyglass Viva in Teams is a full-service model from requirements, scoping, design, development, and support.
