Smart companies are embracing immersive learning in VR & AR

With their Therapists to guide them, autistic young adults use this interactive VR program to develop their emotional intelligence.

Faced with everyday situations, Learners choose from a range of responses and depending on their choice encounter positive, neutral and negative reactions.

➤ 1-to-1 Learning

This multifaceted VR program combines VR scenarios with interactive quizzes, to deliver nationally accredited CPR and First Aid Training.

The SJX program has reduced training time, improved consistency of course content and increased student knowledge retention.

➤ Group Learner

Delivering a cinematic-style shared VR experience- ANSTO VR is regularly broadcast to large groups across their learning centres, events and expos.

The industry-wide positive response along with increased student engagement has led to additional VR & AR content being commissioned.
