

A faster route to better decisions

Transform data into actionable insights with Stella Research Engine™

Experience the power of AI to turn data into insights for easier decision-making

Your complete insight platform

Stella Research Engine™ is an innovative platform that helps companies turn data into insights. With our AI agents, you get a solution that streamlines your processes and analyses both text and images quickly and accurately.

From unstructured data to strategic knowledge in a short time

With Stella Research Engine™, you don't have to wait long for insights or rely on limited data samples. Our agents process large amounts of data and provide deep analyses instantly, giving you benefits when they are needed most.

World-class agents are changing the way we work

Stella Research agents support you in specific tasks, but can also be adapted to be your personal assistant to support you in your daily work. The agents are...

Independent

They enable the automation of manual labour tasks

Interactive

Interacting with people or other systems

Target-orientated

Focused on doing specific tasks

Discover all the possibilities

AI Personas

Get to know and understand your target audiences by asking questions and interacting with your survey results

Text Creation

With our tool, you have access to a range of language models and can quickly build your own agents to support your exact needs

Advanced text analysis

A package of powerful agents that, through a unique combination of in-depth qualitative analysis and robust quantitative methodology, finds themes in large amounts of text and transforms text into statistics

Intelligent image analysis

An advanced solution for semiotic image analysis, designed to provide deep, dynamic and resource-efficient insights on visual communication

Storytelling

Turn complex data into compelling stories with fact-based insights.

Text to voice and voice to text

Tools are fluent in all languages, including Swedish. Create AI-generated podcast of text, summarizing group discussions, in-depth interviews and meetings into text for analysis and insights.

Generative AI revolutionising market research

Stella Research Engine™ is a system-agnostic platform, where your data is processed and managed in a completely secure environment.

For those who demand more from data

Whether you're an analyst, strategist, or communicator, Stella gives you the tools to make better decisions. Our solutions are made for companies that need to get more out of their data.

For those who need insights

Book a demo today to see how Stella can improve insight work in your organisation.

demo@stellaresearch.ai