

THE HIDDEN COSTS OF MANUAL NOTE TAKING IN MEETINGS

Disengagement

Manual note-taking during the meeting can divert attention, reducing active participation and engagement level

Oversights

Important details in the conversations or action items may be missed or forgotten without a precise record

Inefficiency

Post-meeting, team members may need to spend additional time clarifying, analyzing or revisiting points

Lack of Internal Records

The lack of transcripts hinders the ability to maintain internal records and share easily with relevant stakeholders

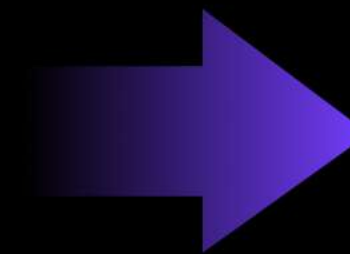

Lost in Translation

Misalignment between communication and understanding within multilingual teams, thereby complicating effective collaboration

Limited Corporate Memory

Storing data or deriving any form of know-how from the processed files is strictly prohibited

AUTOMATED CALL CENTER TRANSCRIPTION FOR A SMALL-SCALE HOSPITAL

Problem

The client, a small-scale healthcare provider, sought to implement a fully automated call center solution to improve patient follow-up processes

- Need 1: Transcribe missed calls and sync transcripts into the hospital's CRM.
- Need 2: Instantly notify customer relations leads via SMS when a call is missed.

Solution

We delivered an E2E solution encompassing call transcription, CRM integration, and automated SMS notifications.

- Connected to RingCentral to access and manage call recordings.
- Used transcription services to convert call recordings into text with concise summaries.
- Synced transcriptions with Insightly CRM, auto-generating follow-up tasks for the support team.
- Integrated Twilio to instantly notify staff via SMS when a patient call was missed.
