

Azure Readiness Assessment

Know what to move. Know how to move it. Know what it will take.

Moving to Azure sounds simple, until you have to decide what moves, how it moves, and what it will actually cost. Without a clear plan, you risk migrating the wrong workloads, overspending, or creating unnecessary complexity.

If you're evaluating Azure, planning a data center exit, or under pressure to modernize, the challenge isn't just getting to the cloud, it's making the right decisions before you start. This assessment gives you the clarity, direction, and confidence to move forward, on your terms.

Make smarter cloud decisions, before you commit.

Whether you're early in your cloud journey or facing a near-term decision, this assessment helps you reduce risk, avoid surprises, and move forward with confidence.

Clarity

Understand your current environment, dependencies, and which workloads are truly ready for Azure.

Confidence

Get data-backed recommendations so you can move forward knowing your decisions are right.

Control

See projected costs, timelines, and migration approaches before making any commitments.

Direction

Walk away with a clear, prioritized roadmap aligned to your business goals.

Our 3-Step Approach

1. Discover Your Environment

Gain visibility into your infrastructure, applications, and dependencies, so nothing is overlooked.

2. Analyze & Align

Your workloads are evaluated for Azure readiness, with clear recommendations and cost insights.

3. Plan Your Path Forward

You receive a tailored migration approach, timeline, and landing zone design, so you know exactly what comes next.
