

A Clinical Focus on Health Equity

TruLite Health® offers the first comprehensive health equity platform for hospitals and health systems to remediate clinical bias at the point of care. The platform is a vertical SaaS model, directly integrated into the EMR to drive immediate improvement of outcomes and cost for diverse populations.

Remediate clinical bias with TruLite Health as part of a health equity strategy

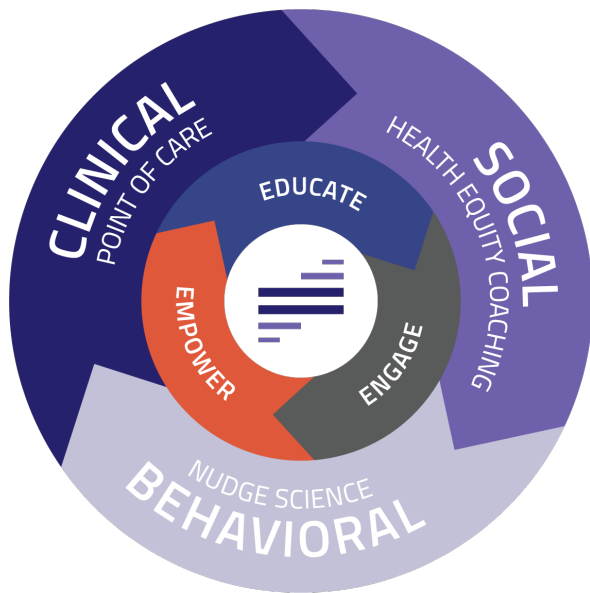

Addressing health equity starts with understanding clinical bias and its impact on quality and cost. For example, TruLite Health identified more than 150 calculators and formulas that include race in the calculation, impacting results. A recent TruLite Health actuarial study revealed individuals from Black or Latinx communities with one of seven chronic illnesses incur an additional $5,300 annually compared to white counterparts facing the same conditions.

- First and only health equity platform in market
- Remediates clinical bias at the point of care
- Directly integrates into EMRs/EHRs
- Minimal-to-no IT resources required
- Aligns with Joint Commission and regulatory compliance

How Truity™ Works

The platform – Truity – integrates directly into EMR systems and health system workflows to deliver clinical, social and behavioral interventions.

With the largest health equity knowledge base available, it's a next-generation bias/decision support engine paired with a health equity certified coach to improve clinical outcomes for diverse populations.

HITRUST® certified and committed to cybersecurity and data protection.

Experienced Leadership

Dr. Alan Roga, CEO
Co-Founder

Shaun Liu, CTO
Co-Founder

The company is led by experienced leaders with extensive clinical, IT and entrepreneurial backgrounds with deep HCIT and health system experience. They are serial entrepreneurs who most recently built and led Teladoc Health's health system division.

TruLite's ability to address equity issues at the point of care coupled with ongoing patient support via coaching is the type of innovation we need to see to reduce the impact of inequitable care.

Valerie Montgomery Rice, MD, FACOG
President and CEO, Morehouse School of Medicine

COMMITTED TO HEALTH EQUITY

Take the first step toward your health equity initiatives

trulitehealth.com