Hello.

Olla built its co-design practice and technology to be a true partner for healthcare's most ambitious companies. By creating consumer-focused and human-centered experiences, Olla is helping healthcare systems elevate their brand and solve their most complex challenges. We did this by focusing on their providers, patients, and business, not ourselves. We promise the same to you. I would love to hear about the challenges you're facing and uncover how Olla can be a partner to solving them.

We believe.

1

Health Systems are uniquely positioned to offer hybrid-care

The seamless blending of digital & in-person care that spans a life-time of patient health. No digital challenger can match.

2

Patients, providers, and staff are demanding personalized, consumer-grade experiences

Acquisition, loyalty, and financial sustainability are directly at stake.

3

Health Systems that deliver on the elevated expectations of hybrid-care way will grow rapidly

Expanding and developing new capacity to reach more patients, by meeting them where they are with less friction and barriers to care.
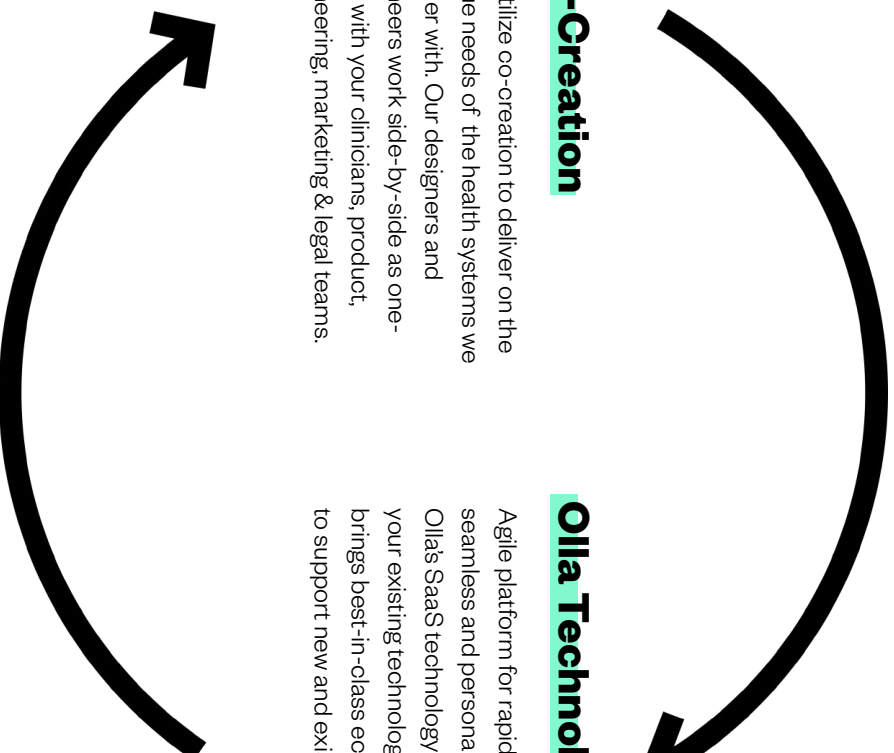

How we work.

Our end-to-end approach is driven by small, interdisciplinary teams that partner as one-team to bring hybrid-care to life for your system.

Co-Creation

We utilize co-creation to deliver on the unique needs of the health systems we partner with. Our designers and engineers work side-by-side as one-team with your clinicians, product, engineering, marketing & legal teams.

Olla Technology

Agile platform for rapid development of seamless and personalized experiences. Olla's SaaS technology platform works with your existing technology investments and brings best-in-class ecosystem of partners to support new and existing service lines.

Co-creation at the center.

Experiences that people love.

By putting users at the center and solving real-world problems in creative ways, we're helping companies and health systems stand-out for the ways they make life better for their customers and employees.
