

Workplace Analytics by VENZO_

Our approach to Workplace Analytics ensures that you get most of the platform. We help you scope your needs and objectives, configure the technicalities, transform data to insights and drive the needed change. It empowers you to start making data-driven decisions and actions.

For more information about VENZO or our Workplace Analytics solution, please reach out to hello@venzo.com

01

Bridging tech and people

We are not just tech nerds or management consultants. We are both. Our approach simultaneous involves both worlds, which ensures that technology is used smart and impactful.

Workplace Analytics is more than just a new dashboard. It is an opportunity to use existing data to transform organizational collaboration, processes and initiatives. VENZO is specialized to support you the whole way and ensure that you take advantage of all aspects of the platform.

02

Linking insights to objectives

In order to reach the desired destination of your culture change, we need to understand how people work. Data needs to be contextualized to become insights that you can act on. By linking your organization's ways of working with your strategic objectives, you can better understand the actions and initiatives required to get there.

VENZO help you scope your needs and aspirations to determine a technological setup valuable to your specific situation.

03

Driving new behavior

Leaders need knowledge and a basis for decision to implement change. With proper insights at hand, business leaders can explain and predict the impact of day-to-day actions on business outcomes. Likewise, HR can make data-driven staffing decisions, increase team agility and establish efficient collaboration.

VENZO ensure that Workplace Analytics is used as an input for discussion and to clarify assumptions like a measurable, helping hand.

04

Co-creating and anchoring work

Through continuous progress, communication and stakeholder involvement, we co-create a lasting implementation. We ensure that you are educated and equipped to handle the solution, and that it is anchored in the organization.

VENZO facilitates training and onboards data scientists, HR and other decision makers to empower you to continue your work with Workplace Analytics. We will of course always support you, if needed.