Automated HIPAA Assessment

OVERVIEW

Public health agencies are seeing increased demand for systems that can support the community and its healthcare provider partners. A significant barrier to the adoption of these solutions is the management and overall cost of HIPAA compliance. With Veracity Solutions' expertise in healthcare and software development, public health agencies and other state and local government organizations can create technology-enabled public health initiatives with confidence.

This experience, which can be held remotely, will introduce key concepts in automated HIPAA security compliance, and lead into an early, high-level review of the organization. A Veracity Solutions team will lead a series of interviews and utilize automated tools to determine your current state of compliance. At the conclusion of the workshop, our experts will deliver an executive summary with key recommendations to leaders and stakeholders within your organization.
